LOUISA PUTS UP $100,000 AND SITE FOR STATE NORMAL

Conditions Met and Our Application is in Hands of the Commission.

Louisa has met the requirements of the law and the construction put upon it by the commission for the location of the Eastern Kentucky Normal School. These conditions are $100,000 and a suitable and acceptable site.

A delegation of 11 Louisa men went to Lexington and appeared before the commission on Wednesday, presenting Louisa's claims.

The commission has fixed June 10 to meet in Louisville at which time they expect to make either a final decision or arrange to visit the various applicant towns. It seems that they have been and probably yet are inclined to make the location without seeing the towns. Louisa extended a pressing invitation to visit here.

Five cities and towns presented their claims at Lexington. They were Paintsville, Louisa, Ashland, West Liberty and Morehead. Each place was given one hour in which to present its case. There was a good deal of good natured rivalry and friendly thrusts during the hearing and the entire five hours proved to be quite interesting.

Paintsville's claims were presented by Fred A. Vaughan, W. B. Ward and Mrs. B. F. Roberts.

Ashland J. W. M. Stewart, Robt. Caldwell, E. H. Gartrell and B. F. Forney.

Louis, Col. Jay H. Northup, F. H. Yates, Dr. T. D. Burgess and M. F. Conley.

West Liberty, L. A. Redwine, Walter Gardner, and Morgan County Superintendent of Schools and the County Farm Agent.

Morehead Sam Bradley, S. S. Cassidy and the Christian church pastor.

Many of the delegates expressed some doubt as to all of these towns having qualified, but there is no doubt about Louisa and Ashland having met the conditions. Paintsville announced that they hoped to be able to offer the Jno. C. C. Mayo College property later, but this was given only as a possibility. Their donations total about $80,000. Ashland and Catlettsburg offered a site off of the Gartrell estate near Clifftop. Morehead offered the Christian school property but no money. They estimate the three frame buildings and one brick structure, with furnishings, to be worth $100,000 or more. West Liberty offered $75,000 and the use of a high school building and dormitory.

The hearing was public and a large crowd was present.

The Louisa delegates who went to Lexington were Col. Jay H. Northup, F. H. Yates, Dr. T. D. Burgess, J. H. Woods, H. E. Queen, W. E. Queen, Augustus Snyder, W. H. Adams, G. H. Vinson, E. E. Shannon and M. F. Conley.

Louisa's Successful Drive.

The biggest thing that Louisa and Lawrence county has ever done was accomplished last Monday and Tuesday, when $100,000 was raised for the donation to the Eastern Kentucky Normal School and ample land purchased for a site.

All this was done within 12 hours. No subscriptions were taken until Monday morning of this week.

The plan which solved the big problem was suggested by Mr. F. H. Yates and it worked out admirably. He secured options from Phillip Fugate and E. E. Shannon, and Col. Northup donated 10 acres of adjacent land. The plan was based upon lot sales and it worked like a charm. Nearly everybody who is able, and who could be seen, joined heartily in the scheme. There are only a few snickers.

Soliciting committees went out Monday morning and when a public meeting in the court house was called to order at 10 o'clock the committees had raised $121,000. The canvass was continued until the entire amount needed was raised. The soliciting committees were F. H. Yates, Dr. T. D. Burgess, Dr. W. W. Wray, Aug. Snyder, H. E. Queen, W. E. Queen, W. H. Adams, M. F. Conley and Jas. H. Woods.

In addition to his land donation Col. Jay H. Northup subscribed $5000. Phillip Fugate is the largest subscriber to the plan, his amount being $25,000. F. H. Yates takes $5,000.

A total of 143 persons subscribed.

The meeting in the court house was presided over by F. H. Yates who stated clearly the details of the plan. Short talks were made by several persons and there was great enthusiasm. Everybody saw the feasibility of the plan proposed by Mr. Yates and he is being congratulated on all sides for the resourcefulness shown in solving this big problem. Numbers of citizens joined heartily in the work. We would like to mention all who helped, and probably shall publish the list of subscribers a little later.

Arrangements are being made to provide temporary quarters for the Eastern Kentucky Normal and offer them at once to the commission.

BELCHER-FUGATE.

The wedding of Mr. Gagler Fugate and Miss Ethel Belcher took place Friday morning at the home of the bride at Gallup. She is the daughter of Mr. V. M. Belcher. The groom is the son of Mr. S. S. Fugate. They left over the C. & O. for a wedding trip to Washington and New York.

State Police Member Killed in Accident

Private Howard A. Deem, of the state police force was killed, Mrs. H. Stine, of Welch, was dangerously hurt and James Hall and Miss Maggie Hatfield, of Matewan, were more or less painfully injured when on last Saturday about six in the evening an automobile in which they were being driven to Matewan went over an almost perpendicular declivity on the Matewan road about two miles east of Williamson, and directly opposite Leckieville.

The car, a new Maxwell, was driven by H. F. Hope its owner, who is a taxi driver of Matewan. Private Deem occupied the front seat with him and Mr. Hall and the two ladies sat on the rear seat.

The machine rounded the curve opposite Leckieville it left the road, ran down the hillside a short distance, then rolled over and over a distance of more than 100 feet and did not stop till it struck the Norfolk & Western railway track. Only two of the five—Officer Deem and Mrs. Stine—were carried the entire distance by the machine.

Private Deem sustained fractures of the skull, and died a few minutes after reaching the track.

He was 24 years of age and unmarried. He enlisted March 3, 1921. His father is night watchman for the Stone Mountain Coal Co., and stays at Matewan. His mother lives at Parsons, W. Va.

He was sent here Saturday to join Private Swift, Incor and Dye in making a moonshine raid, which they carried out. He reported at 4:30, and was under orders to take train No. 16 for Matewan. For some reason he chose to join the automobile party, with tragic ending.—WILLIAMSON NEWS

D. BROWN SAILS FOR RUSSIA

A letter from Dave Brown which was written in New York last Sunday says he will sail June 10 on the steamship New York on the Black Sea line to Constantinople. He expects to reach there in eighteen or twenty days and at that point get permit to travel on to Odessa which will require two more days.

He was delayed in New York getting the passports and finds that to get in and out of Russia now is a much more difficult proposition than when he left there thirty-eight years ago. While waiting in New York he received a letter stating that eight more of his near relatives had passed away on account of starvation, his brother, sister, brother-in-law and their children. They had not had a meal for days and no bread in their houses for weeks.

Mr. Brown lived in Louisa some years ago and moved from here to Williamson where he is a prosperous merchant.

A total of 143 persons subscribed.

The meeting in the court house was presided over by F. H. Yates who stated clearly the details of the plan. Short talks were made by several persons and there was great enthusiasm. Everybody saw the feasibility of the plan proposed by Mr. Yates and he is being congratulated on all sides for the resourcefulness shown in solving this big problem. Numbers of citizens joined heartily in the work. We would like to mention all who helped, and probably shall publish the list of subscribers a little later.

Arrangements are being made to provide temporary quarters for the Eastern Kentucky Normal and offer them at once to the commission.

ASHLAND OUT OF CONTEST FOR STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

TERMS INDICATED BY CHAIRMAN CAN NOT BE MET BY THAT CITY.

Just before going to press we learn by wire that Ashland and Catlettsburg have withdrawn from the contest for the State Normal School.

This action comes as the result of the report made to the Chamber of Commerce by its committee that went to Lexington Wednesday. It was due to the attitude of the commission in two points as indicated in the proceedings and announcements.

One point is that the commission will not visit the applicant cities. The other is in regard to putting at the disposal of the State by next September a building or buildings in which to start the school then. Ashland can not construct new buildings in time, they say.

BUSEYVILLE COUPLE MARRIES IN LOUISA

Mr. Theodore O'Neal and Miss Hazel Roberts came in Wednesday from Buseyville and were united in marriage soon afterwards. The wedding took place at the parsonage of the M. E. Church, the pastor Rev. John Cheek officiating, and was attended by a few friends.

The bride is an attractive girl, the daughter of Mr. G. G. Roberts of Buseyville.

Mr. O'Neal is the son of Mr. Joe O'Neal and since his return from Washington where he lived for some years has been employed in the oil fields of this county. He is well known and popular.

The couple left in the evening for Catlettsburg where they were guests of W. D. O'Neal and family and will go to Cincinnati for a few days visit.

They will reside at Keaton where the groom is employed at present.

MISS LUCILLE MCCLURE GRADUATES AT BEREAL

The many friends of Miss Lucille McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McClure of Torchlight, will be interested in knowing that she is a member of this year's graduating class in the Normal department of Berea College. She is one of our county's best teachers and is popular here where she attended school.

Next week is commencement week there. A program covering the entire day will be given on Wednesday, the main address to be made by Dr. Frederick F. Shannon of Chicago. The Herald Citizen has the following regard to Dr. Shannon: "He is pastor of Central Church Chicago, is successor to Dr. G. S. Mullins, who, until his death, was one of the greatest preachers in America. Dr. Shannon is not among strangers when he comes back to Kentucky for he, himself, came from Eastern Kentucky, and knows it as well as any living man. He is not a stranger to West Virginia as he was pastor in Logan, W. Va., for a number of years. Dr. Shannon is an author of note, as well as an eminent clergyman. You should hear him on commencement day at 11:30 a. m."

A FISHING PARTY.

A fishing party went to Gallup early on Tuesday morning of this week to spend the day. They took lunch which was spread on the lawn at J. H. McClure's. How many fish did they catch? We will tell you later. Before leaving they took orders for a large amount of fish.

In the evening they had a chance to start back on a gasoline boat which was chartered by Dr. Wray, who had been up to see a patient. Feeling sure the train would be late (which it wasn't) they came on the boat. Along about Walbridge the gasoline gave out so the "happy picnic party" proceeded to walk to town, a distance of three miles, reaching here about 10 p. m.

In the fifteen hours two fish were caught, each member of the party claiming the honor. Those who ordered fish were at the depot to meet the train and were greatly disappointed when neither the fish nor the parties arrived. In spite of all these things the outing was very much enjoyed so they say. It was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander of Huntington, the others being Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Atkins and son Jack, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Justice and sons Earl and Arthur, Mrs. W. J. Hester and Mrs. D. C. Spencer.

VISITING IN INDIANA.

C. E. Hensley was here the first of the week from Catlettsburg. On Wednesday, accompanied by his wife and niece, Alice Garland, he left Catlettsburg by automobile for a visit of about a week to his daughter, Mrs. S. F. Ses at Rising Sun, Indiana.

VINSON MEMORIAL DEDICATED SUNDAY

The dedication of Vinson Memorial church on a spot of the Old Homestead at West Moreland, W. Va., was a ceremonial as devout in its simplicity and neighborliness as it was in the solemn consecration of the edifice itself to the Lord for the use of those who would serve Him, says the Huntington Herald Dispatch.

The house, shapely without and finely adorned within stands just between the city and the country. As far as the surroundings tell, it might be rural or it might be urban.

This occasion called from far and wide hundreds who, by reason of ties of blood or friendly associations, have occasion fondly to remember the man and woman whose lives are commemorated in the edifice.

The formal devotions which transferred Vinson Memorial church to the realm of things sacred, were impressive and beautiful, and in full measure fitting the illustrious names it was intended to perpetuate. Outwardly the affair took on the aspect of a family reunion. There was a feast magnificently spread, and the hundreds present were treated with the traditional hospitality which still clings to the ancient homesteads in the orchard and in its maze of rose bushes and flower beds. The crowd, which numbered many hundreds ranged in ages all the way from men and women in the eighties, to infants in arms. Handshakings, familiar greetings, and delighted expressions, marked the reunion feature, and city folk got a most favorable impression of country folk, while country folk found that city folk can be just as nice as anybody else.

From the beginning of the dedicatory service early in the forenoon until the final scene at mid-afternoon, the main body of the new church was crowded with people intent upon the ceremonies.

A panel on the front of the church facing the highway bears this simple inscription:

"In Memory of S. S. and Mary Vinson."

The daughters and sons of Mr. and Mrs. Vinson are Mrs. James A. Hughes, Mrs. Donald Clark, Z. E. and Lindsey Vinson, all of Huntington. The church is a gift from them to the Christian church.

Relatives who went from Louisa were Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Vinson, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Vinson, Jim Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Vinson and Miss Helen Vinson, Mr. and Mrs. Mitt Vinson and son Robert, Mr. and Mrs. James Vinson and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Atkinson, Mrs. V. Peters and Miss Virginia Hager.

Prof. E. L. Swetnam MARRIES IN ASHLAND

Prof. Leslie Swetnam, formerly of Blaine and one of Lawrence county's leading educators, was married in Ashland last Saturday. He is the son of J. J. Swetnam deceased. The family moved from Blaine to Jenkins. The following account of the wedding from the Ashland Independent will be of interest to many of our readers:

A very quiet wedding occurred on Saturday noon at the residence of Rev. W. C. Condit of the First Presbyterian church, the contracting parties being Miss Ida Lucile Stell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Stell of East Winchester avenue, and Edward Leslie Swetnam of Jenkins. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Henry C. Stell and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Holbrook.

The bride wore a handsome traveling suit of blue with grey forming a contrasting shade in hat and other accessories. She wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Stell was for six years a teacher in the sixth grade of the Means school. She is a graduate of Ashland high school and of Marshall college, and also attended Ohio University. The groom is a graduate of Valparaiso University, Indiana, and also of Ohio State University. Mr. and Mrs. Swetnam left after the wedding ceremony for the north where they will spend part of their honeymoon, the latter part of their trip will be enjoyed in the west. They will not return to their home in Jenkins where Mr. Swetnam is principal of the high school until early fall.

PRECISION plays an important part in the manufacture of the Special-Six. It is largely responsible for the dependable service that has singled out the Special-Six as an incomparable value.

Six hundred and eighty inspectors safeguard precision in the Studebaker factories. They literally inspect every part that goes into every car—and every operation on every part. Before cars are passed for delivery 9,500 inspections are made.

In the Special-Six there are 1,120 mechanical operations to the accuracy of one-thousandth of an inch, 360 to one-half-thousandth.

As to the car's performance, a brief experience will reveal its superiority far more convincingly than we could tell it.

Studebaker cars make friends quickly, because they give most for the money. And they invariably keep these friends, because of the universal satisfaction they give in fine performance, economy and service.

A WOMAN'S BACK

THE ADVICE OF THIS LOUISA WOMAN IS OF CERTAIN VALUE.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains.

Often times 'tis the kidneys' fault.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are effective.

Many Louisa women know this.

Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. M. J. Dunagan, Lock Ave., says:

"It's been about two years since I treated with Doan's Kidney Pills and I was so well pleased with the results that I can recommend them to others. At that time my back ached and there was a constant weakness through the center of my back. I had a dizzy feeling come over me every now and then, too. My kidneys weren't acting regularly and, in many ways, showed signs of disorder. I got to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills and used two boxes. They rid me of my trouble entirely."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dunagan had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs. Constance Murphy left recently for Columbus, Ohio.

How Mountaineer Inspired
Faulkner's Famous Tune,
"The Arkansaw Traveler."

Colonel Sandy Faulkner, the original "Arkansaw Traveler," was born in Georgetown, Scott county, Ky., March 3, 1803. He came to Arkansas in 1829 and settled in Clecot county on the Mississippi river as a cotton planter. In 1839 Col. Faulkner with his father, the late Nicholas Faulkner, a Virginian by birth, took up his residence in Little Rock where he died August 4, 1874, at the age of 71 years.

It is well known throughout the southwest that Colonel Faulkner was the original personator of the "Arkansaw Traveler;" it was his pride to be known as such. The story, it is said, was founded on a little incident which occurred in the campaign of 1840, when he made the tour of the state in company with Hon. A. H. Sevier, Governor, Fulton, Chester Ashley and Governor Yell. One day in the Boston mountain, the party approached a squatter for information of the route, and Colonel "Sandy" was made spokesman for the company, and it was upon his witty responses the tune and story were founded. On the return to Little Rock a grand banquet was given in the famous "bar room," which used to stand near the Anthony house, and Colone "Sandy" was called upon to play the tune and tell the story. Afterward it grew in popularity. When he subsequently went to New Orleans, the fame of the "Arkansaw Traveler" had gone ahead of him, and at a banquet, amid clinking glasses and sparkling toasts, he was handed a violin by the then governor of Louisiana and requested to flavor them with the favorite Arkansas tune. At the old St. Charles hotel a special room was devoted to his use, bearing in gilt letters over the door:

"Arkansaw Traveler."

Traveler—Hello, stranger.
Squatter—Hello, yourself.

T—Can I get to stay all night with you?

S—No, sir; you can't get to—

T—Have you any spirits here?

S—Lots ov'em; Sal saw one last night by that ar old Holler gum, and it nearly skeered her to death.

T—You mistake my meaning. Have you any liquor?

S—Had some yesterday; but Ole Boss he got in and lapped all of it out ov'n the pot.

T—You don't understand. I don't mean pot liquor. I'm wet and cold and want some whiskey. Have you got any?

S—Oh yes; I drank the last morning.

T—I'm hungry; haven't had a thing since morning; can't you give me something to eat?

S—Hain't a darned thing in the house. Not a mouthful uv meat nor a dust of meal here.

T—Well, can't you give my horse something.

S—Got nothin' to feed him on.

T—How far is it to the next house?

S—Stranger, I don't know; I've never been there.

T—Well, do you know who lives here?

S—I do.

T—As I am so bold, then, what might your name be?

S—It might be Dick, and it might be Tom; but it lacks right smart uv it.

T—Sir, will you tell me where this road runs to?

S—It's never been anywhar since I've lived here; it's always that when I get up in the mornin'.

T—Well, how far is it to where it forks?

S—It don't fork at all, but it splits up like the devil.

T—As I am not likely to get to any other house tonight, can't you let me sleep in yours; and I'll tie my horse to a tree and do without anything to eat or drink?

S—My house leaks. That's only one dry spot in it, and me and Sal sleep on it. And that tree is the ole woman's persimmon; you can't tie to it, cause she don't want 'em shuck off. She loves to make bear out'n 'em.

T—Why don't you finish covering your house and stop the leaks?

S—It's been raining all day.

T—Well, why don't you do it in dry weather?

S—It don't leak then.

T—As there seems to be nothing else about your place but children, how do you do, anyhow?

S—I purty well, I thank you; how do you do yourself?

S—I mean what do you do for a living?

S—Keep tavern and sell whiskey.

T—Well, I told you I wanted some whiskey.

S—Stranger, I bought a bar'l more'n a week ago. You see, me and Sal went to share. After we got it here we only had a bit between us, and Sal she didn't want to use herf fast, nor me mine. You see, I had a spiggin in one end, and she in the other. So she takes a drink out'n my end, and pays me the bit for it; then I'd take an out'n her, and give her the bit. Well, we's gettin along fast rate till Dick, durin skulkin skunk he burn a hole on the bottom to suck at, and the next time I went buy a drink that wurn't none thar.

T—I'm sorry your whiskey's all gone, but my friend, why don't you play the balance of that tune?

S—It's got no balance to it.

T—I mean why you don't play the whole of it.

S—Stranger, can you play the fiddle?

T—Yes, a little, sometimes.

T—You don't look like a fiddler, but if you think you can play any more onto that there chune' you can just git down and try.

(The traveler gets down and plays the whole of it.)

S—Stranger, take a half dozen beers and sit down. Sal, sit yourself round like a six-horse team in a mud-hole. Go round in the holler what I killed that buck this mornin', cut off some of the best pieces, and fetch it and cook it for me and this gentleman directly. Raise up the board under the head of the bed and git the old black jug I hid from Dick and give us some whiskey; I know that's some left yet. Till, drive old Boso out'n the bread-tray, then climb up in the loft and git the rag that's got the sugar tied in it. Dick carry the gentleman's hoss round under the shed, give him some fodder and corn, much as he kin eat.

Till—Dad, that ain't knives enough for to sei the table.

S—What's big butch, little butch, obo case, obo-handle, granny's knife and the one I handled yesterday? That's enough to sat any gentleman's table, without you've lost um. Durn me, stranger, if you can't stay as long as you please, and I'll give you plenty to eat and to drink. Will you have coffee for supper?

T—Yes, sir.

S—I'll be hanged if you do tho, we don't have nothin' that way here, but Grub Hyson, and I reckon it's mighty good with sweetnin'. Play away stranger, you kin sleep on the dry spot to-night.

T—(After about two hours' fiddling.) My friend, can't you tell me about the road I'm to travel tomorrow?

S—Tomorrow! Stranger you won't get out'n these diggins for six weeks. But when it gits so you kin start, you see that big slop over there? Well, you have to git erast that, then you take the road up the bank, and in about a mile you'll come to a two-acre-and-a-half corn patch. The corn's mighty in the weeds but you needn't mind that, just ride on. About a mile and a half or two miles from that you'll come to the damnest swamp you ever struck in all your travels; it's hoggy enuff to mire a saddle-blanket. That's a fast-rate road about six feet under that.

T—How am I to get at it, nary time.

S—You can't git at it, nary time, till the weather stiffens down sun. Well about a mile beyant, you come to a place whar that's no roads. You can take the right hand if you want to; you'll folter it a mile or so, and then you'll find it's run out; you'll then have to come back and try the left; when you git about two miles on that you may know you're wrong for they ain't any road that. You'll then think you're mighty lucky if you can find the way back to my house, whar you kin cum an play on that chune is long as you please.

Pikeville Couple
Weds in Versailles

Frankfort, Ky., June 5.—Mrs. Sarah Thornberry, of Pikeville, last Wednesday came to Frankfort to see the Assistant Secretary of State E. E. Trivette, who was ill, had proper care.

On Thursday she and Mr. Trivette went to Versailles. That evening Mr. and Mrs. Trivette returned to Frankfort.

An effort was made to keep the marriage a secret from all but a few friends. Word of the marriage, however, today got out here and Mr. Trivette was prevailed upon to tell about it.

The romance started in Pikeville when Mr. Trivette was county judge of Pike county. Both had been married before. When Mr. Trivette came to Frankfort a month ago to take the position of assistant secretary of State after R. Lee Stewart had resigned, Mrs. Thornberry remained in Pikeville.

A week ago, however, Mr. Trivette became ill. He went to a Louisville sanitarium for a few days. Mrs. Thornberry heard that he was ill, telling relatives in Pikeville that she was going to Mingo, W. Va., to visit a brother, who is sheriff there, she came to Frankfort to see that Mr. Trivette had proper care. He returned from Louisville the same day she arrived here.

"I thought" said Mr. Trivette today, "that any woman who was interested in me to come all that distance to see that I had proper care when I was sick was well worth keeping here, and that is all there is to it."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Trivette are of families prominent in Eastern Kentucky. He has been active in politics in Eastern Kentucky for twenty years, having been a member of the State legislature for three terms and later postmaster at Pikeville and then county judge.

The following officers were elected: President, Leonard E. Meece, of Pulaski county; secretary, Dock Jordan, of Lawrence county. It being necessary for Superintendent Jordan to leave before the meeting closed Superintendent Oscar Fallis, Boyle county, was chosen for the remainder of the session.—Kentucky School News.

Forty county superintendents were in attendance at the Eastern State Normal School as guests of the latter from May 24 to May 26. They discussed important phases of the new school law and passed important resolutions.

LAMBERT & QUEEN LOUISA KY.

Louisa Men See Auto Races at Indianapolis

(Judge Billie Riffe and Ed W. Kirk are the ones referred to in this article.)

We left Louisa on the evening of May 28, by way of the N. & W. and were met at Kenova by Mr. T. F. Maloney, who took us to his hospitable home for the night. We left there at six o'clock next morning by way of Ironton and at Portsmouth we filled up on (gasoline) and then proceeded by way of Chillicothe, Hillsboro and at Fayetteville we visited Mr. Maloney's two sons who are in school there, and on through many other small towns to Cincinnati.

We here visited the zoo and other places of interest. Here at the Grand hotel, by pre-arrangement, we met the fourth man of our party Mr. George Collins, a princely fellow. We left here at six o'clock next morning and drove to Hamilton, Ohio, about thirty miles and had breakfast and proceeded on our way to Indianapolis.

We drove through many fine small towns in Ohio, and over some fine roads. Mr. Maloney is a "bear cat" at the wheel, but soon after leaving Hamilton we had our first serious accident. We were clipping off something like forty-five miles per hour when a Ford suddenly ran up Mr. Maloney's sleeve and bit him on the arm; after this, when his attentive eye spied a Ford he would set his massive jaw, step on the accelerator and his noble old Franklin did the rest. We met and passed many Fords and cars of other makes, some of which were driven by men from the high grass.

We arrived at Indianapolis and the automobile race was on. There were something like one hundred and thirty-five thousand people there from almost every state and some from foreign countries. It was two and one-half miles around the track and the enclosure was reached by an "underground crossing and this enclosure was parked full of cars of every kind and description and name, from the cheapest to the most elaborate. The distance of this most grueling contest was five hundred miles and the honor and purse went to the man who made this distance first. The average speed of the winner was ninety-four and one-half miles per hour.

After the races we drove about seventy-five miles to Frankfort, Indiana and stopped for the night. From here we drove to Kankakee, Illinois, fifty miles south of Chicago, which is the home of Gov. Len Small and here also is the largest insane asylum in the world. Here Mr. Collins visited his two sons who are in school in this beautiful town of some twelve thousand people. From here we turned South and drove through many towns in Illinois including Danville made famous by "Uncle" Joe Cannon and his forty-five degree steige. We passed through many small and large towns in Indiana and stopped for the night at Bedford where the great Bedford sand stone is quarried, this was our record day's run, having covered in seven hours two hundred and fifty-one miles and we were some tired. We left here next morning and drove to West Baden where we saw among other things, one of the finest and largest hotels in the world, here also is some of the "finest" water we have ever seen. A half mile further on we saw French Lick, the home of Tom Taggart, a power in Indiana politics and a former United States Senator. We hurriedly took these places and drove to Evansville and there crossed the Ohio river into Louisville arriving there at 11 o'clock a. m.

We went to the horse races that evening and next day and left there at six p. m. on Saturday and drove by way of Shelbyville, Frankfort, Versailles and to Lexington and there stopped for the night. Sunday morning we started early and drove by way of Maysville and crossed the river and then followed the river through many small towns, Portsmouth, Ironton and crossed into Ashland and to the home of Mr. Maloney where we had an elegant supper prepared by Mr. Maloney's good wife and Miss Florence Deatley, people who certainly know how to entertain their friends.

We had driven over the Jackson highway, the Dixie highway, the National highway, the Lincoln highway, the Boon trail and other nationally known and magnificent highways. We also drove over some roads that reminded me of Lawrence county when I was county Judge and our speedometer registered, for the trip, 1152 miles.

We saw much fine country and many things of interest to us of which we can not here speak for lack of space.

Mr. Maloney is a man of much travel and varied experience, wealthy, and a fine host.

Mr. Collins is a man of great wealth, a gentleman of culture and refinement and between the two men there was nothing too good for us to enjoy and we think their greatest enjoyment was in showing us a good time, which we certainly had and enjoyed.

Life without love is like a day without sunshine.

Roses without sweet nature's perfume:

Love is the guide mark to those who are weary.

Of waiting and watching in darkness and gloom.

Love to the heart is like dew drops to violets.

Left on the dust-ridden roadside to die;

Love leads the way to our highest endeavors.

Lightens and lessens the pain in each sigh.

Life without love is like spring without flowers.

Brook streams that move not or star bereft sky.

Love creates efforts most worthy and noble.

Prompts us to live and resigns us to die.

Commencement.

At the graduating exercises of Pikeville College held in the Presbyterian church last Thursday, Rev. A. P. Higley of Cleveland, Ohio, was the speaker, after the graduates had given their program. There were seventeen in the class.

Also, the Dr. W. C. Condit prize was awarded by Dr. Record to Miss Sylvia Trent, of McAndrews, Ky. This trip netted a grand view of nature's most wonderful handiwork—perpendicular walls, hundreds of feet high, great fissures in mountains of stone; here and there some giant stone separated from its fellows by a narrow neck lifting its majestic brow high in the ethereal atmosphere.

The party caught one copper-head on the way but failed to run across any "copper-worm," they say.

WHAT TO WEAR

--That's About The Most Important
Vacation Problem

It has been said that vacation pleasure isn't so much a matter of how and where the leisure days are spent but of the clothes one has to wear. Most certainly clothes have much to do with it, especially when most of us must cram a whole year of pant up play instincts into a few short weeks. Whether you have chosen the mountains, the lakes, sea-shore, country-side or plan a vacation at home, our carefully planned displays provide appropriate apparel for each sport, each function and each hour of the day and evening.

And Tub Frocks Are as Necessary as Fine Weather

When you know it will come out in the wash, there is nothing to worry about even if your clothes do get soiled—when you wear a tub frock. You can vacation as hard as you like in a jolly carefree spirit. Ginghams and prints for mornings and sports and voiles, dimities, organdies and dotted swiss for times when you long to look your prettiest, make up a selection of real vacation frocks. And best of all they're not expensive.

Vacation Time Is Sweater Time

A variety of sweaters, each one as bright as a sunny day and as different as it's changing moods. Vacation days call for a variety of sport costumes and tuxedo surplice and slipovers woven into checker squares and stripes provide a sweater match to every costume.

A good looking Bathing Suit, a colorful bathing cap to match a pair of bathing shoes and a pair of good quality silk hose—you're ready for the beach.

Whatever your apparel needs you'll find them at ZENNER-BRADSHAW'S to your satisfaction.
